Indo-Pak talks: US

WASHINGTON, Aug 1: The Obama Administration is not seeking to broker talks between India and Pakistan in the Kashmir issue, a top American official has said, as Secretary of State John Kerry landed in Islamabad for full range of talks during which he is expected to bring it up.

"We are in no way seeking to broker any sort of conversation on Kashmir," a senior official, traveling with Kerry to Pakistan, told reporters in response to a question.

"There's no change in policy in terms of where we are on that, which is that we do not see ourselves or seek to be in the middle of any conversation between India and Pakistan on Kashmir," the official said (PTI)
