

Will see evidence against IB officer in Ishrat case: Home Secy

NEW DELHI, June 30: Amid a tussle between IB and CBI over action against Intelligence Bureau's special director Rajendra Kumar in Ishrat Jahan case, new Union Home Secretary Anil Goswami today said he will see whether there was enough evidence to prosecute the senior IPS officer.

encounter and not connected with duties of any government officer. CBI sources said even in some case of alleged fake encounters in Punjab which were probed by the agency, no sanction for prosecution was needed.

Last week, a senior Home Ministry official said that CBI had shared with the Ministry evidence against the special director of IB after which the ministry told CBI that this does not show that Kumar was part of the conspiracy.

The CBI sources had said that during questioning, Kumar was evasive and continuously repeated that he did not remember fine points about the incident as it happened nine years ago.

The CBI has not yet sought sanction from the Home Ministry, which is the cadre controlling authority of IPS officers, to prosecute Kumar.

Officials said CBI was planning to prosecute and arrest Kumar after his retirement from service on July 31, without asking of sanction from the Home Ministry.

But CBI sources have been maintaining that they do not need sanction from the Home Ministry to prosecute Kumar as the case is of alleged fake
