

IM behind explosions; NIA, NSG teams rushed

9 blasts rock Bodh Gaya, 2 injured

GAYA (BIHAR), July 7: Terror struck one of the holiest Buddhist shrines, the Mahabodhi Temple, and other places in Bihar's pilgrimage town of Bodh Gaya early which Lord Buddha is believed to have attained enlightenment, did not suffer any damage in the blasts which shook the holy town frequented by lakhs of Buddhist pilgrims from Sri Lanka, China, Japan and the attack and NIA and NSG teams have been sent for post-blasts investigations. A five-member NIA team comprising a DIG and two SPs reached here by a special plane from New Delhi and Bihar police chief DGP Abhayand told reporters, adding CCTV footage was being examined for leads to the terrorists.

The explosions, the first of its type to target the town and the temple, a UNESCO heritage site, took place between 5:30 and 5:58 am. The explosives were set off by timers.

Last year, the Delhi Police claimed to have foiled a 'fidayeen' attack in the town with the arrest of suspected Indian Mujahideen (IM) elements to avenge "atrocities" against Muslims in Myanmar. Security agencies suspect that IM may be behind today's multiple blasts.

However, no group has claimed responsibility for what the Centre and State Government have described as a terror attack in a region where Maoists have a strong foothold.

"While four blasts took place inside the Mahabodhi Temple complex, three occurred in Karmapa monastery, one each near the famous 80-ft Buddha statue and at the bus stand near bypass," Khan said.

Union Home Minister Sushilkumar Shinde said two live bombs were defused in the town. A third bomb, hidden in a cylinder, was recovered from a village near Bodh Gaya hours

Union Home Secretary Anil Goswami told reporters in New Delhi that serial explosions inside and outside Mahabodhi Temple complex were a terror

Army to decimate leadership of major terror outfits

Sanjeev Pargal

JAMMU, July 7: Army has decided to decimate top commanders of the militants first to make the major terror outfits leaderless with a view to curb the militant activities, which have witnessed an increase in the Kashmir Valley during the past few weeks.

Official sources told the Excelsior that the Army top brass has issued direction to the Commanders to look for leaders of different militant outfits and go for the kill to reduce incidents of violence in the Valley.

It has also asked its Commanders of the LoC along Jammu and Kashmir to maintain best possible surveillance during the Monsoon as Intelligence inputs have pointed out that the militants would go all out to sneak-in into the State in the next couple of months and settle themselves well before the announcement of Parliament and Assembly elections next year.

"Though all militants operating in the State estimated to be around 300 always remained on our hit list, we have devised a strategy to identify the leaders of the militant outfits and their groups within the organisations and target them directly to ensure their killing.

"We believe that leaderless group and the outfit wouldn't be in a position to carry out tasks or operations unless more commanders were inducted into their ranks from across the LoC," sources said, adding it has been observed earlier also that the militants, whose group leaders or outfit heads had been killed, were unable to carry out operations as they were rendered "directionless".

They said most of the outfits or groups within the terror organisations, whose leaders had been killed by security forces and police, remained in wilderness for a long period till the new leadership took over and issued them directions on the tasks they had to carry out.

Noting that killing of eight Army soldiers and some police constables besides targeted attacks on the Panchayat members in the Kashmir Valley were carried out by the militants at the behest of their leadership, sources said it was in this con-

Don't take Kashmiris for granted, Omar warns Centre

* Peace not permanent, anger can boil beyond limit

Excelsior Correspondent

KANIR, July 7: Chief Minister Omar Abdullah today lashed out at the Centre for its failure to address political issues of Jammu and Kashmir and considering that selection of a Kashmiri youth in national squad would resolve the basic issues.

In a hard hitting criticism of the Centre Government, headed by the Congress, which was a coalition partner with Omar's National Conference in the State, the Chief Minister said: "those sitting in Delhi and considering that participation of people of the State in Panchayat elections, qualifying of IAS and other All India Competitive Exams by Kashmiris or selection of a local youth (Parvez Rasool) in Indian cricket team would solve basic political issues, are wrong.

"This kind of mindset is unfortunate and untrue," Omar said addressing a public meeting at this village falling under Charar-e-Sharief Assembly constituency.

Taking another dig at the Centre for its failure to take follow up action on the report of Interlocutors, Omar said the Interlocutors had held a series of meetings with stakeholders and had appointed the Interlocutors to look into political problems of the State and suggest a viable solution, the Chief Minister said: "the

As the religious sentiments of Buddhists have hurt badly due to the incident, Union Home Secretary, Anil Goswami has put the civil and police administration in the Leh district on alert with directions to step up vigil to foil any attempt on the part of anti-social elements to foment trouble.

As soon as the news regarding terror attack on the Buddhist pilgrimage town of Bodh Gaya targeting the world-famed heritage Buddhist Stupa and the

In the meanwhile, civil and police administration received a communiqué from the Union Home Secretary, Anil Goswami regarding maintenance of high

The project was inaugurated with much pomp and show by the then Divisional Commissioner, Kashmir, Asgar Samoon along with then Deputy Commissioner, Srinagar, Baseer Ahmad Khan, Commissioner Srinagar Municipal Corporation GN Qasba, Director Tourism Talat Parvez, Executive Engineer Irrigation and Flood Control Imtayaz Ahmad Dar and Head Disaster Management Amir Ali by making a trial-run of river water transport from Pantha Chowk to Chhatabal Weir.

Ajaz says under the Public-Private Partnership model it is the duty of the shops and restaurants remaining closed for the whole day. The Buddhist community has suffered such a shock over the incident that even vegetable and fruit vendors could not be seen in the markets, which wore the deserted look. The bandh passed off peacefully.

Thousands of people thronged Chowkhang Vihara, Ladakh Buddhist Association complex to attend a meeting held to condemn in strong words the barbaric act of anti-social elements in Bodh Gaya. The participants demanded immediate action by the Government of Bihar and Central Government

After pompous launch, Jhelum cruise capsizes

Mir Farhat

SRINAGAR, July 7: Following pompous launch of first passenger water transport service, cruise, in river Jhelum by the Government, it has failed to take off due to lack of infrastructure which Government was to develop.

The Government last year roped in a water transport company, Kashmir Motors Marine Services, to operate the services, claiming that it was an attempt to get rid of traffic mess on the congested roads.

But the company head Ufair Ajaz said this mode of transport cannot ease traffic congestion as necessary infrastructure to run the service is yet to be made available due to lackadaisical approach of the Government.

"It will take a lot of time to make it feasible for public transport. We have been facing lot of difficulties because of the non-availability of basic infrastructure; boarding and de-boarding terminals for the motor boats have not been built by the Government yet," Ajaz said.

Since last year, Ajaz said, the company has had a huge learning experience how to promote it and attract people towards it. "The terminals have to be developed with changing water level in the river. For that purpose, floating pontoons are required at the terminals which have not been allotted by the Government yet."

The project was inaugurated with much pomp and show by the then Divisional Commissioner, Kashmir, Asgar Samoon along with then Deputy Commissioner, Srinagar, Baseer Ahmad Khan, Commissioner Srinagar Municipal Corporation GN Qasba, Director Tourism Talat Parvez, Executive Engineer Irrigation and Flood Control Imtayaz Ahmad Dar and Head Disaster Management Amir Ali by making a trial-run of river water transport from Pantha Chowk to Chhatabal Weir.
