No: DAA/13/512-52
Dated : 4th June, 2013
Assistant Registrar (Academic Affairs)

I am happy to learn that the Department of Ecology, Environment and Remote Sensing, J&K Government, is celebrating the World Environment Day by organizing a number of awareness programmes.

The continuing degradation of the environment and the adverse consequences of the growing phenomenon of climate change pose a serious threat to biodiversity and the livelihood of millions of people across the world. It is, therefore, of paramount importance that the global community launches a concerted effort for effectively responding to the emerging environmental challenges. In this context, the celebration of the World Environment Day provides a profitable occasion for focusing on ecological issues and generating widespread public awareness about the vital importance of protecting the environment.

Discussions on the theme of this year's World Environment Day - "Think, Eat, Save" - can gainfully contribute to enlarge awareness of ensuring against waste of food which leads to loss of precious resources and, besides, adversely impacts the environment.

I compliment the Department of Ecology, Environment and Remote Sensing for observing the World Environment Day and wish them success in all their future endeavours.

4th June, 2013
Srinagar.

MESSAGE

It is increasingly recognized that there is a clear cut correlation between the environment and sustainability of life and life forms. It then becomes essential to take care of our environment and ward off environmental degradation. We owe this to ourselves, our future generations and to the planet we inhabit.

On the World Environment Day, each year, the need to promote and maintain the environment, ecological diversity and related ecosystems is highlighted. This year's theme is, "Think. Eat. Save." This theme is pertinent and germane. If we are able to minimize wastage of food and not consume extravagantly, this will impact and ensure food security which, in turn, will rebound positively to the environment. The theme falls within the ambit and power of each individual. If each individual takes care and consumes thoughtfully, this will have aggregate results and benefits.

I wish the department of Ecology, Environment and Remote Sensing which is celebrating the World Environment Day on June 5, 2013 in an attempt to generate awareness amongst the people all the very best.

MESSAGE

World Environment Day like every year is being observed on 5th June. This is the day when we dedicate ourselves to the cause of the environmental issues and services. Our environment is precious and we have to maintain it for posterity. It is the duty of every citizen to contribute through small local actions in this direction, be it planting trees, keeping the surrounding clean, saving our energy/water, non use of polythene etc.

This year the theme of the World Environment Day (WED) as envisaged by UNEP & FAO is "Think.Eat. Save" It is very relevant today when one third of the total food of the world is getting wasted and there are people who sleep hungry every day. It is an ethical, economic & environmental issue given the enormous waste of energy, fertilizers and other inputs on food produced but never eaten. We should use only the seasonal fruits/vegetables instead of frozen foods which cost heavily on the environment.

On the occasion of World Environment Day, I hope the Department of Ecology, Environment and Remote Sensing will carry this message to every nook and corner of the state and wish them success in this endeavour.
