Information gap is unavoidable because the age we are living in is full of noise and distractions. The main side of this is the inaccessibility and unavailability of information. Here is a case of information gap in which about ten thousand women of the state have been denied an opportunity for employment and education. The government has not taken any action to overcome this problem. The problem of social media has been the major cause of this information gap.

Debating legacy of stalwarts

Ashok B Sharma

A new trend has unforeseen consequences, and this new politics, particularly that in the country’s national unity, has not been able to prove the point. The ruling party should always be responsible for the new generation. The leader, who is the most superior in terms of political thinking, should always be on the forefront of the party. The leader who is the most superior in terms of political thinking should always be on the forefront of the party.

The main point of the discussion is the need to overcome this information gap. The leaders should always be responsible for the new generation. The leader, who is the most superior in terms of political thinking, should always be on the forefront of the party. The leader who is the most superior in terms of political thinking should always be on the forefront of the party.

TV: Emerging as effective medium of communication

Ratnepal Bhandari

Communication is a basic human characteristic and is essential for development and progress in particular. In the development of man and communication of the society and the survival in society, communication is possible with information. The same is the case in the survival of man. The survival of man is achievable only when he and his skills and abilities are communicated. The survival of the man who is a part of the society is achievable only when he and his skills and abilities are communicated. The survival of the man who is a part of the society is achievable only when he and his skills and abilities are communicated. The survival of the man who is a part of the society is achievable only when he and his skills and abilities are communicated. The survival of the man who is a part of the society is achievable only when he and his skills and abilities are communicated. The survival of the man who is a part of the society is achievable only when he and his skills and abilities are communicated.

Telecommunication and communication in today’s world

The students. First, question papers are set in a shoddy manner. Many errors are seen in question papers and this affects the students. The teachers should take steps to overcome this problem.

The nurses of St. Mary’s Academy in Kathmandu were denied entry after they failed to produce the documents. The nurses were denied entry after they failed to produce the documents. The nurses were denied entry after they failed to produce the documents. The nurses were denied entry after they failed to produce the documents. The nurses were denied entry after they failed to produce the documents. The nurses were denied entry after they failed to produce the documents. The nurses were denied entry after they failed to produce the documents. The nurses were denied entry after they failed to produce the documents. The nurses were denied entry after they failed to produce the documents. The nurses were denied entry after they failed to produce the documents. The nurses were denied entry after they failed to produce the documents. The nurses were denied entry after they failed to produce the documents. The nurses were denied entry after they failed to produce the documents. The nurses were denied entry after they failed to produce the documents. The nurses were denied entry after they failed to produce the documents.

The leaders of the Congress party have been accused of being more interested in the party's interests and personal gains than in the interests of the people. This has led to a deterioration of the party's image and a loss of popular support.

The problem of unemployment is a serious one and requires immediate attention. The government should take measures to create job opportunities and provide education and training to the youth. The leaders of the Congress party should take responsibility for their mistakes and work towards a better future for the country.