Amendment of the Constitution of India. The 73rd Amendment was implemented with elections to third tier of the Panchayati Raj System i.e. the District Development Councils which had never been held in past 70 years.

Prior to abrogation of special status of Jammu and Kashmir on August 5, 2019 and bifurcation of erstwhile State into two Union Territories of J&K and Ladakh, the previous Governments including PDP-BJP and National Conference-Congress had refused to implement 73rd and 74th Amendments of the Constitution of India in Jammu and Kashmir.

The Finance Commission could be set up after elections are held for the posts of Chairpersons and Vice Chairpersons of the District Development Councils, sources said, adding that the elections would be notified only after the Rural Development Department comes out with notification of reservation roster for the posts of Chairpersons and Vice Chairpersons.

Development Councils in Jammu and Kashmir, 33 per cent are being reserved for women while reservation could also be extended to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes as per the formula being worked out by the Department.

The reservation roster is expected to be released by the Rural Development Department soon, according to sources.

This will be followed by elections to the Chairpersons and Vice Chairpersons after which the District Development Councils will come into existence for a tenure of five years. Jammu and Kashmir divisions have 10 District Development Councils each while each Council has 14 elected members.

NH breaches near Ramban, hundreds of vehicles stranded survive under sever water crisis. We keep on moving from dawn to dusk to fetch water amid sub-zero temperature, treacherous conditions and the fear of lurking wild animals," 58-year-old local resident Asha Devi said.

As the night temperature has remained at sub-zero levels for over two months, it had a cascading effect on the water supply lines in remote areas of the Valley like Sunote village.

Executive Engineer PHE division, Doda, Satish Sharma said he is equally concerned about the problems being faced by the people in the absence of potable water.

"I will send my team headed by Assistant Executive Engineer there on Monday and will also visit there personally as the issue raised by the villagers is of very serious nature," he said.

Meanwhile, reports from Kashmir said that after witnessing fresh snowfall on Saturday, the chilly weather conditions intensified today in the summer capital, Srinagar and other parts of Kashmir due to overcast conditions though the night temperature improved and settled above normal.

A MeT department spokesperson said that weather will remain dry during the next about five days. "The dry weather will result in considerable dip in the night temperature though the maximum temperature is expected to improve due to sunshine," he said.

He said a fresh Western Disturbance (WD), which will originate in Arabian Sea and would approach the region through Afghanistan and Pakistan, would hit the region on January 15. "It would be a weak current and would result in light snowfall at some places in the valley," he added.

After witnessing an improvement of about 2 degrees in the night temperature, people woke up to a chilly Sunday morning in Srinagar due to overcast conditions, coupled with icy cold winds. The weather remained chilly throughout the day in the city, where water bodies, including world famous Dal Lake was partly frozen. Against minus 4 degree recorded on Saturday, the night temperature in Srinagar was minus 2.6 degree, which is about a degree above normal. Mechanics and drivers could be seen early in the morning burning wood on roadsides to keep themselves warm in Srinagar, where interior roads and by-lanes remained under snow which has now frozen due to sub-zero temperature.

Despite improvement of over 2 degrees from Saturday, world famous ski resort of Gulmarg was still the coldest place in the valley at minus 7.8 degrees, which is the normal temperature of the area during this time of the year. The tourist footfall in Gulmarg, which is known for its ski slopes and quality of snow, has witnessed increase by many folds since Christmas following early snowfall. "Despite chilly weather conditions, the tourists are out on ski slopes enjoying different snow related activities," a hotelier from Gulmarg said.

World famous health resort of Pahalgam was the only place in the Valley where the mercury dipped though it settled a degree above normal. Against minus 5.1 degree recorded on Saturday, the night temperature at the resort was minus 5.9 degree.

The mercury at Qazigund, gateway to the valley, Kupwara in north Kashmir and tourist resort of Kukernag improved and settled at minus 0.4 degree, minus 1.5 degree and minus 1.3 degree, respectively.

Nearly a week after the heaviest snowfall of the season, many areas of Uri in North Kashmir's Baramulla district remain cut off as roads have not been cleared of snow, while power supply has not been restored to many villages.

The residents of several areas including Nambra, Churanda, Gowlata Zamoopatan, Gohalan, Dudran and Chotali told Excelsior that the roads leading to the villages remain covered with a thick blanket of snow, causing multiple problems to them.

The residents said that the patients are the worst affected as they have to walk several kilometers to reach the hospital for treatment. "The patients especially the pregnant women have to wade through snow to reach the hospital as the roads remain under the snow. Even the ambulances cannot reach patients because of the non-clearance of the roads. The administration seems to be unmoved by our problems," a local from Churunda said, adding that getting essentials is an arduous task as they have to travel by foot in the bone chilling cold.

An official at the PMGSY, Shahawaz Peer said that snow has been cleared from around 95 per cent of roads. "Maximum roads have been cleared and whatever is left will be done by tomorrow. We are facing problems only at Churunda because of the landslides," he said.

The complaints of electricity outage were also received from several areas where residents accused the Power Development Department of failing to restore electricity to almost 50 per cent of the areas. "The administration has failed to restore the electricity to most of areas and half of the Uri constituency is under darkness. This is despite three-power houses in the area that supply electricity to the entire Valley. They should restore the power to all the places with no delay," Sajad Shafi said.

Assistant Executive Engineer, Fayaz Ahmad, Sub Division Mohra, told Excelsior that they have restored electricity to almost 95 per cent of areas and the remaining areas would be connected by tonight. "Power supply to areas like Garkoot, Trikangam, Darkoot has been restored despite heavy damage to the power lines. The electricity in some areas is affected because of damage to their transformers. By tonight, almost 99 per cent of areas will receive electricity," he said.

After remaining out of bounds for the vehicles, the Kupwara-Tangdhar road was today thrown open for traffic after strenuous efforts of the Beacon workers as well as the district administration.

Officials said that after there was an improvement in the weather all through the last few days, the road was made motorable after the accumulated snow was cleared.

The district administration after assessing the condition of the road, allowed the vehicular traffic to ply on the road from Sunday morning. It was made sure that only those vehicles with anti-skid chains are allowed to commute.

The district administration has appreciated its officers as well as the Beacon authorities for their strenuous efforts to make the road motorable.

The administration has also restated its promise of providing better connectivity to border-residents including Kamah and Tangdhar.

Protesting farmers vandalise venue of CM Khattar's 'kisan mahapanchayat'

KARNAL (HAR), Jan 10:

Protesting farmers on Sunday vandalised the venue of a 'kisan mahapanchayat' programme at Kaimla village here where Haryana Chief Minister Manohar Lal Khattar was to address people to highlight the "benefits" of the Centre's three agriculture laws.

The Haryana Police used water cannons and lobbed teargas shells to prevent the farmers from marching towards the village.

The farmers, however, reached the venue and damaged the makeshift helipad where Khattar's chopper was to land despite elaborate security arrangements made by the police.

They later took control of the helipad and squatted on it. Some protesters also uprooted the tiles of the helipad.

The farmers disrupted the 'kisan mahapanchayat' programme by damaging the stage and breaking chairs, tables and flower pots at the venue.

In the melee, stones were also pelted as police personnel ran for cover.

Angry farmers, mainly comprising youths, damaged the stage, tent and speakers at the venue. They also tore BJP hoardings and uprooted banners in the presence of policemen.

Under the banner of Bharatiya Kisan Union (Charuni), farmers, who have been demanding that the laws be repealed, had earlier announced to oppose the 'kisan mahapanchayat'.

Haryana Ministers Kanwar Pal Gujjar, Krishan Lal Panwar, Kamal MP Sanjay Bhatia and Gharuanda MLA Harvinder Kalyan were part of the programme before the agitating farmers took control of the venue. "The programme was cancelled due to an unruly act by farmers at the behest of BKU leader Gurnam Singh Charuni," BJP leader Raman Mallik said.

Police had made elaborate security arrangements for the chief minister's visit to the village where he was to speak to people to highlight the "benefits" of the new farm laws.

Director General of Police (Crime) Muhammad Akil was also present at the spot.

The protesting farmers earlier carried black flags and shouted slogans against the BJP-led Government as they attempted to march towards Kaimla village.

Police had put up barricades at the entry points of the village to prevent the protesters from reaching the programme venue.

However, the farmers crossed the barricade put up at Gharuanda on the Kaimla road.

The police had also parked several trucks carrying sand at one of the roads to prevent the farmers from entering Kaimla village.

Karnal Superintendent of Police Ganga Ram Punia also tried to pacify the agitators, but in vain.

"All the farmers are here to whom the CM 'sahib' intends to explain the farm laws. We will not allow the Government to hold this programme," a protestor said.

The farmers lambasted the Khattar-led dispensation in the state, saying it was holding a programme on the central farm laws at this point of time when farmers across the country have been protesting against the same.

"The government is trying to rub salt into our wounds with this 'kisan mahapanchayat' programme," another protestor added. (PTI)

Fadnavis, Raj Thackeray's security cover reduced

MUMBAI, Jan 10:

The Maharashtra Government has reduced the security cover of former Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis and his family, former UP Governor Ram Naik and MNS president Raj Thackeray, and withdrawn the security cover of State BJP chief Chandrakant Patil.

State BJP spokesman Keshav Upadhye termed the action unfortunate and a "vendetta" of the ruling coalition against his party's leaders.

Fadnavis, who is at present leader of opposition in the State Assembly, alleged that the Government was now giving security "on the basis of politics", and that this would not impact his plans to travel and meet people.

However, State Home Minister Anil Deshmukh rejected the opposition BJP's charge and said the security of political leaders was reviewed as per the prevailing threat perception.

As per a Government notification issued on January 8, Fadnavis will now get 'Y-plus security with escort', instead of the 'Z-plus' cover. The security of his wife Amruta Fadnavis and daughter Divija has been downgraded from 'Y-plus with escort' to 'X category'.

Former Uttar Pradesh Governor Ram Naik will now get 'Y' cover instead of 'Y-plus'.

MNS chief Raj Thackeray's security cover has been downgraded from 'Z' to 'Y plus with escort'.

The security covers of BJP leader and former CM Narayan Rane, State BJP chief Chandrakant Patil and senior party leader Sudhir Mungantiwar have been withdrawn. Rane had 'Y-plus' security. Besides, the security of state Lokayukta M L Tahiliani has been downgraded from 'Z' to 'Y'. (PTI)
