With eye on Lok Sabha polls, BJP reaches out to Pasmanda Muslims

LUCKNOW, Oct 23:

Aiming to win all 80 Lok Sabha seats in Uttar Pradesh, the BJP is sharpening its outreach among the backward Pasmanda Muslims, who have benefited from Government schemes like free ration and housing.

The BJP, which had held a state-level Pasmanda Muslim meet, is now planning to hold similar programmes in all civic body areas.

The Pasmanda community has 41 "castes", including Ansari, Qureshi, Mansoori, Salmani and Siddiqui. They are in professions such as butchers and weavers, and considered most backward in social, economic and political terms.

The party claims that it's working for the community's political uplift after their social and economic empowerment.

In Pasmanda Muslim meets, BJP leaders are highlighting that the Samajwadi Party, Bahujan Samaj Party and the Congress always used Muslims as a "vote bank" and did not give them their due.

Uttar Pradesh minister Danish Azad Ansari, who belongs to the community, told PTI, "Central and state governments have worked for economic and social empowerment of Muslims so far. The BJP now wants political empowerment of Muslims by ensuring their participation."

The common Muslims are getting benefits of government schemes like free ration and housing without discrimination and it is their moral responsibility to stand with them, he said.

The president of the Uttar Pradesh BJP's minority wing, Kunwar Basit Ali, said this time strong and trusted Muslim BJP workers will be given tickets in elections to the urban local bodies.

"We have planned that people from different groups of Pasmanda Muslims will hold conferences in their societies and BJP leaders will participate in these to convey to them the party's ideology and government plans," Ali said.

"The BJP Government has done as much as it could do for the Pasmanda Muslims. Now, it has to take it from them," he said.

"The Government has given benefits of its schemes to 4.5 crore Muslims in UP, they have been made a minister, head of minority commission, president of Urdu Academy, 80 per cent share to Pasmanda Muslims in various commissions and morchas of the Government," he said.

Asked about the change of attitude towards Muslims, Ali said, "Most benefits of the government's schemes have also been given to Muslims."

In Uttar Pradesh, 85 per cent of the Muslim population belongs to the Pasmanda community.

Muslim voters hold influence in 72 assembly and 14 Lok Sabha constituencies of Uttar Pradesh. Given the number of Pasmanda Muslims, if a party gets the support of this section it can make a difference in the results.

According to the CSDS-Lokniti survey, eight per cent Muslim voters had voted for the BJP in the Uttar Pradesh Assembly elections held earlier this year, which was one per cent more than the 2017 figure.

The BJP snatched SP bastions of Azamgarh and Rampur, having strong presence of Muslim voters, in the byelections recently.(PTI)
