

No one can encroach even an inch of our land: Amit Shah in Arunachal Pradesh

KIBITHOO (Arunachal Pradesh), Apr 10:
The era when anyone could encroach India's borderlands has passed and no one can dare cast an evil eye on its territorial integrity, Union Home Minister Amit Shah said here on Monday. Launching the 'Vibrant Village' programme in the border village of Kibithoo in Arunachal Pradesh, one of India's eastern-most places, Shah said the valour of the Army and ITBP personnel ensures that no one can encroach even an inch of India's land.

indomitable spirit despite the lack of resources. He said the Government has set a three-year target for making available such facilities in this region.(PTI)

He said border areas are the top priority of the Modi Government, pointing to the infrastructure and other development works carried out by his Government in the Northeast.

"The era is gone when anyone could encroach on our lands. Now, not even land equal to 'sui ki noke' (inch of land) can be encroached..." the Minister said.

He said no one can cast an evil eye on India because of the security forces who protect the country's frontiers.

"In 1962, whoever came to encroach this land had to return because of the patriotic people living here," Shah said.

He called this frontier location the "first village of India" and not the last, saying Prime Minister Narendra Modi's Government has brought about a "conceptual" policy change to develop these areas and help the locals living here by providing basic amenities to them.

Earlier, people who returned from border areas used to say that they visited the last village of India but the Modi Government has changed this narrative with people now saying that they visited the first village of India, Shah said.

"Before 2014, the entire Northeastern region was seen as a disturbed area but because of the Look East policy, it is now known for its prosperity and development," Shah said.

Paying homage to the mar-

Union Home Minister Amit Shah said, "Namaste" in Arunachal Pradesh as people greet each other with 'Jai Hind' that "fills our hearts with patriotism". "It is because of this attitude of the Arunachalis that China which had come to occupy it had to retreat," Shah said.

The Minister said the 'Vibrant Villages Programme', in Kibithoo, the 'Vibrant Village' scheme envisages that tap water, electricity, cooking gas, financial inclusion, digital and physical
