VP releases Karan Singh's book on Mundaka Upanishad

Parliamentarians in London on Monday that functioning micro-phones in the Lok Sabha are often silenced against the Opposition. He made the comment during an event organised by veteran Indian-origin Opposition Labour Party MP Virendra Sharma in the Grand Committee Room within the House of Commons complex.

But the Indian democratic polity has now matured. There can be no repeat of that," he said. "Asserting that anyone who says so, inside the country or outside, is an affront to the nation, he said, "Imagine this being done after having held the floor for nearly 50 minutes. Some kind of wanton misadventure to run down our democratic fabrics and values cannot be countenanced."
